TEN GREAT YEARS WITH

Graham

Aviation

GREENVILLE, MISSISSIPPI

MARIANNA, FLORIDA

1951-1953

1953-1961

To Members of the Graham Aviation Team:

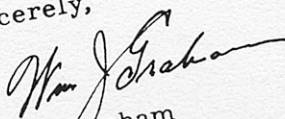

THANKS FOR A JOB WELL DONE -- is far from an adequate expression of my feelings to you fellow-workers for the measure of success and satisfaction that has been ours, over the past ten years.

You have been the chief ingredient in the formula that has been so effective in producing our important product -- pilots and officers in the United States Air Force.

You men and women in every department, in every section, have maintained high standards. The seven thousand students from thirty-three countries in eighty-four classes stand as a proud monument to your abilities, to your knowledge, to your interest and enthusiasm, but even more, to your sense of dedication that has been so evident to me over the years.

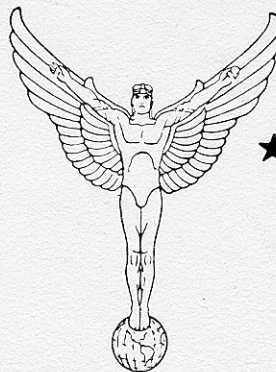

We can look back on the past decade with a feeling of great pride in our accomplishments.

Sincerely,

W. J. Graham
President

★ UNITED STATES AIR FORCE PRIMARY PILOT TRAINING SCHOOL

THE GRAHAM STORY

On 4 April 1951, the silver wings of a "Texan" flashed in the morning sun over the Mississippi Delta at Greenville, AFB, and so began the flight that stretched over a span of a decade, a flight in which over a million hours were logged and seven thousand students were trained.

But let us go back to the very beginning and unfold the Graham story—the story of over 700 civilians whose abilities and knowledge have written a proud chapter in the production of the officer pilots for the United States Air Force—a ready force that has been the potent deterrent for the past ten years and will be in the years ahead.

Graham Aviation in December of 1950 was awarded the first contract for pilot training since World War II. Greenville AFB, Mississippi was the site selected, and at the turn of the year the project of base rehabilitation began. In less than 60 days the students in Class 62-Baker reported for their pre-flight training. Personnel from pilots to pipefitters were hired, and all, with a feeling of pride in the mission, moved into the routine. The men and women from many states working together, quickly had an organization going—doing the job efficiently and well under the guidance of President, W. J. Graham and General Manager, Martin Gracey.

In November of 1952 the rumors of a move of the base began—Stuttgart, Arkansas; Homestead, Florida; even New Orleans—the rumors stopped. It became a fact—Marianna, Florida was to be the base of operations for Graham Aviation. Greenville AFB was to be a basic school.

W. J. Graham, Martin Gracey, Jim Kaufmann, Bill Heck and a few others went to the Florida base. It was a disappointing sight—quite different from the well manicured grounds at Greenville—a jungle of tarpaper shacks rotting down. But it was looked at not as it was, but how it could be—how it would be, and the vast rehabilitation and building project got under way.

They were a pleasant and productive two years at Greenville. The fellowship was the finest, contract training proved itself in effectiveness, in flying safety and in cost. The phase-out of training at Greenville moved in an orderly manner, and in March of 1953 training began at Graham Air Base, Marianna, Florida. There was not a single day's interruption in training, Graham Aviation President, W. J. Graham was awarded the Air Force's highest commendation, the Exceptional Service award, for the accomplishment.

The change at Graham Air Base, more accurately a transformation, was a dramatic one. By August of 1953 it was for the most part complete—modern buildings, excellent facilities and beautiful grounds. It quickly became a "show place". The students came in increasing numbers, the faithful Texan was phased out and in its place the T-28 was used. The T-34 was adopted as the screening trainer, and then in step with the jet age the Cessna T-37 twin jet trainer became familiar to the skies over Graham.

The challenge presented by change was treated as routine, but the problems were many—pilot upgrading, changes in academics, maintenance, supply—no department was unaffected. The quality of the student produced continued, always to improve. Flying safety reached a level of excellence never before achieved in the Air Force.

Graham employees became an integral part of the community, making their contributions to the economy, and the social and cultural life of the city of Marianna. They built homes, their families increased, their children went to school—Marianna was home.

The memorable events at Graham were many as the years moved along. The annual base picnics—"Dad's Days"—the golf club—the Consolidated Club—name bands by the score—softball games—tennis—bowling—swimming pools—wonderful food at the Consolidated Dining Hall—Christmas parties for the children—visiting VIP's—Pigalle and coffee breaks—the Christmas tree with a thousand lights—Shangri-La—office parties at Christmas—bull sessions—visits of friends—the bonds of friendship—new faces—the remembrance of those who left—. A full life, a productive one, one that matured and mellowed.

On Thursday 24 April, 1960 the boom was lowered with almost stunning suddenness. Official word went out that contract training would cease come the end of the year. And so began the final approach. There was no lowering of standards; the same high quality effort continued.

All who had a part in the Graham story can feel justly proud—proud of the contribution made to the United States Air Force—to the defense of our nation.

It was a full and fruitful decade.

CLUB HOUSE

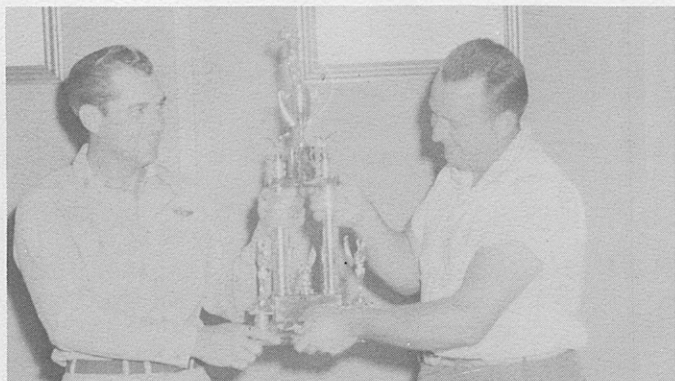

A number of years ago a band of golfing enthusiasts, not necessarily golfers, got together and formed the Graham Air Base Golf Club through the cooperation of Graham Aviation and the Air Force. Little did they think at the time that it would turn out to be a country club with 250 members.

Its facilities grew along with its membership. The 9 hole golf course with 18 tees looks deceptively simple but it has never played that way. Many fine scores have gone down the creek running across the fairway on the 8th and 17th hole.

Just for practice there were two complete holes, a chipping green, driving area and putting green. Every party at the golf club included a contest on the 18 hole floodlit putting green. And there were many parties.

The clubhouse offered relaxation in the patio, clubroom and unique game room where Snooker, pool, table tennis, darts, an indoor driving range, exercise equipment and less strenuous card games were available. The Pro Shop and resident Professional completed the club facilities. A fine collection of trophies won by Graham linksmen decorated the club magnificently.

The 18 hole record stands at 65 and the 9 hole at 31. Only four players have made the coveted Hole-in-One on No. 4. Many nostalgic memories will linger in the hearts of those who enjoyed this biggest little club.
